

Together, We Transform

RAW MATERIALS IN HOPE

During these challenging times, Braskem, in partnership with other companies in the chemical and plastics chain and with trade associations, has donated items of critical importance for combating COVID-19.

Given our focus on improving people's lives through chemicals and plastics, we have contributed to supplying public hospitals and government agencies with supplies for urgent medical needs, as well as supported communities near our industrial sites and families of workers at recyclable material picking centers.
